MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, the color will be a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appear-

NEVADA'S JUDICIARY SYSTEM.

Senator Dennis, in his Tuscarora Times Review says: "An amendment to the Constitution was introduced in the State Senate last Winter, changing our Judiciary system to one similar in character to that of the Territories of the United States. It provided for the election of five Judges, who sitting in banc, comprised the Supreme Court of the State, while each member was assigned a district where he had the same authority and performed the same duties as a present District Judge. Several of the smaller States are now working under that system, and it has been found to operate successfully both in a judicial and economic point of view. It is only a few years ago since the Court business in Massachusetts became so voluminous that it was deemed advisable to abandon this system for a more elaborate and expensive one. There are several Territories of larger population and greater area than the State of Nevada which have only three United States Judges each, who transact all of the business pertaining to the Supreme and District Courts, and in a manner fully as satisfactory to the people as the same work, more expensively performed, is accomplished in this State. If Utah, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Washington and Dakota can get along satisfactorily with three Judges with salaries less than $3,000 each, certainly this Commonwealth ought to be fully equipped with five at $5,000 each. During the discussion of the amendment in the Senate, it was clearly shown that the change would save directly to the people of the State nearly $400,000 per year, while the indirect saving would amount to nearly as much more. It was furthermore argued, and we believe logically, that a higher order of legal ability in the aggregate would be secured for the Bench than is now attainable under the present system. The amendment passed the Senate by a large majority, but like every other of any really practical merit which was proposed, it failed to pass the Assembly, and so the project was defeated. This reform alone would save in two years to the people of the State more than the cost of a Constitutional Convention, and yet there are people who object to the calling of one on account of the expense. These economists are of that class who would rather pay a thousand dollars a year in rent for property which they could purchase outright at the start for less than half of that sum."

If the Senator could guarantee that a Constitutional Convention would adopt this plan, a large number of persons who now oppose a convention, might change their views. But the Convention might take the same view of the plan as the Assembly did.

The National Republican Convention.

C. W. Bennett of Salt Lake City, Utah, a member of the National Republican Committee, and Mr. Enos of Wisconsin, member for that State were in Chicago Monday, and both stated that they should vote for holding the next Republican National Convention in Chicago. Those who are working up the movement are apparently more hopeful of a favorable result. Every member of the National Committee, who passes through the city, is duly labored with and asked to throw his influence for Chicago.

Brewster's Time.

A Washington special says: The vanity of Attorney-General Brewster is wounded. He issued an edict that the Government departments had no right to adopt the new time until authorized to do so by Congress, and seems to have assumed his edict would be recognized throughout the District. The railroads denied his jurisdiction, and Monday when he went to take the express for Philadelphia he walked down to the platform leisurely, watch in hand, to find that he had arrived about eight minutes and twelve seconds too late.

Secretary Teller will refuse the application of the Southern Pacific R. R. Company to the Texas Pacific land grant, and will refer the whole matter to Congress. The President concurs in this course.

FEMALE POLITICAL RIGHTS.

An Array of Stern Facts for Woman Suffragists to Contemplate.

The picture a correspondent of the New York Times draws of social and political conditions in the Territory of Wyoming is dark and gloomy. It is estimated that five-sixths of the population of the Territory live in the string of townships along the line of the Union Pacific Railroad. The people generally are intelligent and progressive. The leading citizens of Cheyenne and other principal places are rich, traveled, drowsy, gossipy, virtuous and well housed. The unpleasant side of the picture can not be told in a few words. Cheyenne has thirty infamous houses, forty licensed whisky shops and nine gambling rooms where gaming is openly advertised and carried on; the county jail is an iron cage, unfit for the confinement of human creatures, and there are no poor houses. The political system may be described as indecent and corrupt. Primary elections are farcical, and regular elections held under the organized law of the Territory are a burlesque. These facts are collected by the correspondent of the Times, with a view to ascertaining what influences upon the American political system is exerted by women who have the right to vote. Female suffrage has existed in Wyoming since 1869. As a matter of fact, women are now never seen in the jury box, and do not ask for or obtain office. Their share in popular suffrage is contained in occasionally voting and administering the laws, making nominations, formulating political platforms, or taking the stump in the election canvass. By the enfranchisement of women, writes this stern political moralist, corruption, trickery, fraud and vice, as political forces already existing, have been reinforced by weakness, indifference, ignorance, cowardice and imbecility.

Mahone's Programme.

The Chicago Tribune's Washington special says: The purpose of Mahone and the Readjuster leaders is understood to be to call a convention of all the opponents of Bourbonism in Virginia, whether they belong to the Readjusters or the straight-outs, to elect Delegates to the Republican National Convention who shall represent the regular Republicans and Readjusters, to work for the candidate of the Republican party. This Mahone thinks, with such Federal protection at the polls through the United States Marshals and Supervisors of Elections, as the law authorizes at a National election, may possibly secure Virginia's electoral vote for the Republicans. The Danville massacre and the Bourbons' triumph in Virginia, so far from driving Mahone and the leading Readjusters back into the Bourbon ranks, has resulted in their permanent divorce from the Bourbon party and their alliance to the Republicans or whatever party may be in opposition to Bourbonism. The address of Mahone shows that the Democratic talk that he will not co-operate with the Republicans in the Senate is idle and that the reorganization of the Senate on a Republican basis is almost certain.

Jacob Thompson to Write a Book.

A New York Times Memphis, Tenn., special says: Jacob Thompson, who, besides Gen. Holt, is the only living member of Buchanan's Cabinet, stated he contemplated writing a history of his visit to Canada as agent of the Southern Confederacy. Thompson speaks of it as his "Canadian Campaign," and declares a full publication of all the facts would create a considerable breeze. His sole reason for hesitation, he declares, is that several prominent citizens—one or more of them occupying a seat in Congress of the United States—would be utterly ruined. He intimates that some of the gentlemen to whom he refers were in the confidence of the United States Government at the time of which he speaks, and, at the same time, were aiding him in his efforts for the success of the Confederacy. Thompson declines to say more.

The Paper Pulp Mill.

The Dutch Flat Times says important improvements have been made to the paper pulp mill at Alta, which will increase the manufacturing capacity of the works to 15 tons a day as against 10 tons per day, the amount produced last season.

The Austin Reveille is again worried about Mr. Kinkaid. When we remember that when Kinkaid was mentioned for Superintendent of the Mint last Spring that the Reveille was the only paper in the State to speak unkindly of him, we are not disposed to bother now with attempting to relieve its present anxiety concerning him.

MAHONE AND HIS PARTY.

His Canstute Address—Bourbon Corruption and Stupidity.

Senator Mahone, of Virginia, publishes an address to the Readjuster party in Virginia, in which he says: "The status of our debt had been so distorted by legislative fraud, corruption and stupidity, that the principal of our bonded indebtedness had been made to seem $18,000,000 more than our indebtedness, as shown on the public records, exclusive of the one-third owed by the State of West Virginia. The right to vote had been gradually curtailed by the whipping post disqualification and the capitation tax laws passed in violation of the conditions to which the State solemnly pledged herself when readmitted to representation in Congress, until free suffrage was a mockery in Virginia. The school funds had been diverted from their proper use in like violation of the fundamental conditions of the readmission; the Bourbons had kept the State in an attitude of sullenness and narrow adherence to defeated and discarded notions, as to State sovereignty and national obligations, most injurious to her interests, begetting distrust, excluding capital and immigration, and

REPRESSING ENTERPRISE.

And development. The righting of these wrongs, the correction of these evils, and the resistance to the old Bourbon spirit of caste, intolerance and proscription which belonged to a former period—these were the grand objects which had brought together the great majority of our people, without regard to race or previous condition of party servitude. Our enemies hated and bitterly opposed each one of these objects." Mahone then calls attention to the economy practiced under the Readjuster government, giving facts and figures to show the results. He says since the accession to power of the Readjusters miles of railway have been built, our principal port has become the second cotton port in the country and its exports have increased 83 per cent; a city has sprung up in our midst and grown in population from 5,000 to 50,000; our taxable values on personal property have increased over 18 per cent, our license tax over 9 per cent; capital has sought investment here, mines have been opened and capital and labor among us have been aroused to greater activity than ever before. Our federal relations have never been more friendly than they now are at any time since the formation of the constitution. The voice of Virginia has been heard in both houses of Congress in support of progress, order and rightful National authority, and for the first time since the war has been treated with the same consideration as New York or Massachusetts. Sectionalism has disappeared. The recent election, Mahone says, was not a true and fair expression of the people's will, being dragged at this late day under the domination of bloodshed and violence, not a whit less bloody nor less brutal than those which flourished in the palmy days of the klux and the white leaguers. Speaking of

THE DANVILLE RIOT.

Mahone says how many were killed no one knows, and no one will probably learn the truth, for the condition of things is such that the truth cannot be learned; that they were shot in the back like dogs while running away; that no pistol shot was fired by a black man; that no white man was injured save by his own friends; that for days the poor victims were found dead in alleys, in warehouses and under houses, like poisoned rats, that had crawled away to die; and that the negroes fled to the woods, to the State of North Carolina, to the four winds of heaven. These are a few of the facts of this bloody wholesale murder which was telegraphed far and near by the Bourbons as an insolent uprising of the blacks against the whites. Mahone then shows that the Republican losses occurred where the negroes were largely in the ascendancy, and adds: "To me, as a Virginian, a former slave-owner and an ex-Confederate, the saddest feature of this reign of terror is the suffering it has inflicted upon the negroes here. These unfortunate people have had a fate as black as their skins. Now, when they act on their rights, voluntarily accorded to them, they are shot down like dogs, for party purposes, by the beneficiaries of their toil for centuries. Already the voice of the nation is uplifted against this awful outbreak in a State heretofore regarded as peaceful and loving. Already the cry of 'This way, freemen,' has become known as making a threat that unless you are a 'Bourbon freeman' your life, your liberty and your enjoyment of your political rights are at the mercy of a band as lawless as highwaymen and as desperate as outlaws. The motto of Bourbonism, interpreted by the blaze of their weapons, reads, 'Unless you are a Bourbon freeman, you shall be a Bourbon slave or a Bourbon-made corpse.' If this be overdrawn, where is the first word of censure from any so-called Democratic source, in or out of the State, of the crimes which are but feebly set forth in this recital? Mahone argues from these facts that the fight against Bourbonism must go on, that the nationalism of human rights, liberty, peace, manhood and the Republican government must succeed.

ENCOURAGE THE PEDAGOGUES.

We believe that Mr. Gilman, Superintendent of the Eureka & Palisade Railroad, has consented to give half fare to all teachers who desire to attend the State Institute at Reno next month. Efforts are being made to secure a similar reduction on the Central Pacific. We hope the indulgence will be granted to help out a good cause. Besides, the road will lose nothing by the concession, for otherwise the number of teachers traveling will be small. They are too often like the members of the newspaper fraternity. They are impetuous.—Eureka Sentinel.

CARLISLE'S POSITION.

Recent dispatches from the East convey the impression that John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, will be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives on the first ballot, and while S. J. Randall of Pennsylvania has many warm supporters for the Speakership, his friends admit that the tide is favorable for Carlisle. Though Carlisle has been in Congress for years, his position on important questions are not as well known as those of Randall. Some think he is a free trader and favors the abolition of custom duties on all articles of import. To correct this erroneous impression, since his arrival in Washington a week ago, he gave the following as his position on the subject of revenue reform:

I think it is entirely safe to say that while there is a very general feeling of dissatisfaction with the existing system of unequal and unjust tariff taxation, there is no disposition to strike a radical, much less a fatal, blow at any of the great mechanical or manufacturing interests of the country; nor is it necessary, in my judgment, to strike such a blow in order to afford a reasonable degree of relief to the people. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that under this system, whether it was originally wise or unwise, large and valuable interests have grown up, that great masses of capital have been withdrawn from other pursuits and embarked in manufacturing enterprises, and that labor, following as it always does where capital leads, has been to a great extent diverted from its previous channel, and has permanently identified itself with these various interests. In any revision of the tariff that may be made, proper regard should be had for the welfare of these great interests, and they should be carefully considered—not alone, not as something separate and distinct from the other industries of the country, not as the special favorites of the Government having peculiar claims on its bounty, but in connection with every other legitimate interest in the country, all being recognized and treated as equally entitled to favorable consideration.

A Farmer's Strange Find.

A strange find is reported from Scott county, Arkansas. A farmer named Meyers, while hunting, discovered a cave in the mountain side, and, on exploring it, came across the skeleton of a man, together with several silver coin pieces. The latter had evidently been manufactured by the Spaniards, the date, appearance and inscription indicating extreme antiquity. The remains are in a wonderful state of preservation, though the skull and limbs were detached and scattered some distance apart. A belief is expressed that the cave is in close proximity to the silver mines, which, according to a legend, exist in the mountain fastness and which were worked by the Spaniards and afterwards closed so effectually that no trace of them could be found.

Lighting Gas with the Finger.

Lighting gas with the finger is a feat anybody may perform. Let a person, in his slippers, walk briskly over a woolen carpet, scuffing his feet thereon, or stand upon a chair, with its legs upon four tumbler to insulate it, and be rubbed up and down on the body a few times with a muff, by a second individual, and he will light his gas by simply placing his finger to the tube. It is only necessary to take the precaution not to touch anything or to be touched by anybody during the trial of the experiment. The shock of electricity acquired by the process we have described is discharged by contact with another object. One person must turn on the gas while the other fires it.

The Teeth of The Nation.

There are about 17,000 dentists in the United States, and they pack into the teeth of the American people, says the Cleveland Herald, a ton of pure gold every year. About five times that weight of less precious metal, such as silver, platinum and tin, goes the same way. It is estimated that this amount of metal is worth $1,000,000, and if the present dental methods are kept up, all the coin in the United States will have been buried in the graveyards by the time the twenty-first century rolls around. It is said that the demand for gold in dentistry is rapidly growing every year. This is accounted for in part by the fact that many people with false teeth insist in having them filled, so that they may seem all the more natural. There are about 4,000,000 false teeth manufactured in this country every year. The business of dentistry is not what it used to be, however, and prices have come down wonderfully since the days when the leading operators could afford to retire after a practice of eight or nine years. Still, there seems plenty of work to be done in the future, seeing that the decay of teeth is increasing. Two hundred years ago one person in five had sound teeth. A hundred years ago but one person in twenty-five had perfect teeth; and in this nineteenth century age of reform our very latest statistics show that but one person in eighty has perfectly sound teeth.

The Central Pacific Railroad paid $49,775 taxes in Humboldt county this year.

JOHN MACKAY'S SLEDGE.

It Shows That He was a Hard Hitter.

(Enterprise 20th).

A day or two since, in taking out the old filling on the Ophir level of the Ophir, the workmen unearthed an old sledge, which was recognized by a veteran miner present as one that John W. Mackay used in the mine over twenty years ago.

It was pretty well used up before being thrown away, and blows from it must have warmed the head of a drill countless thousands of times. A piece of broken handle, about six inches in length, still remains in the hammer, and it was probably this break that caused it at last to be discarded and thrown in with the filling.

The old hammer has been placed in the cabinet at the Ophir office, where it is kept under lock and key among the other valuables in the show-case of rare specimens. The old hammer is really quite a curiosity. It has been so eaten and discolored by rust that no one looking at it would think of it being anything else than a wooden mallet. While the steel on the two faces is not very much destroyed the iron is so eaten that it crumbles like rotten wood. It also shows a grain like wood. The iron has been so driven in upon itself by hard usage that the fibers are twisted like the grain seen in a knot of some kind of hard wood.

THE SOLID SOUTH.

(Carson Index.)

One of the most instructive of recent political events was the Virginia election. A reign of terror was evidently inaugurated all over the State, and the colored people in large masses were frightened out of voting. The Bourbons have closed the breach made by Mahone, and the South is again solid. To the Republicans of the North who have been reluctant to affiliate with the so-called Mahone movement in the Old Dominion, it must now appear that the Democrats of that State are desperately in earnest against any change, and that a native born Virginian who seeks to improve the relations of his State with the Federal Union is hated, maligned and detested even worse than the carpet baggers of fifteen years ago. We have always been of the opinion that Geo. C. Gorham never did a wiser, more kindly or more statesmanlike thing than when he sought Republican recognition for the people of Virginia who were dissatisfied with Bourbon rule and wanted an improved political, commercial and industrial condition of affairs. It has been perhaps as much through Republican apathy that Mahone has gone down as through any other cause. It is even becoming apparent from many of the Eastern Republican papers that the party attitude toward the Virginia Independent movement has been neither fair nor friendly as it should have been. The good work of years seems to have been undone, and Virginia is as thoroughly unreconstructed as ever.

The Speakership and the Presidential Campaign.

(S. F. Post.)

The position of the Democracy is well shown in the contest over the Speakership of the House of Representatives. The bulldozing at the election in Virginia two weeks ago has demonstrated that Bourbon doctrine is the same to-day as when a quarter of a century ago it plunged the nation into civil war. For this reason, and to throw dust in the people's eyes, Tilden, it is represented, is anxious that Randall should receive the caucus nomination for the Speakership. Mr. Tilden and all the Northern doughfaces understand that a solid South can only be insured by a shotgun policy, but they are willing to be hoisted into office by that or any other means. They simply say: "Let us Northern Democrats have the Presidential offices, and you may run your State Governments to suit yourselves." In such a state of affairs the war issues are not dead, and they never will die so long as Bourbonism rears its head as it is doing to-day in Virginia and in other Southern States.

The Examiner and other Democratic sheets may designate the Post's doctrine as the bloody shirt, but it is nevertheless true. The statements made cannot be denied. The only hope of the Democracy in 1884 is the old cry of a solid South. Without a solid South there could be no hope of electing a Democratic President. The November elections have been a surprise to the Democracy. They had calculated that New York, Connecticut and Pennsylvania would follow in the wake of Ohio. They had not the sagacity to comprehend that local causes led to the Republican defeat in that State. They now understand that the old Republican States are as firm to Republican principles, when such issues are raised, as in the days of the nation's peril. Tilden and other Northern Democrats realize this. Hence they are anxious to compass the defeat of Carlisle, of Kentucky, for the Speakership. His success, it is seen, would further open the eyes of the people of the Northern States as to what may be expected with a Democratic administration at Washington. But the lesson should be none the less patent to the Republicans. Northern doughfaces are as ready to conspire with Southern Bourbons in November, 1883, as they were in the dark days of the rebellion.

THE OLDEST PENSIONER.—In our list of pensioners published two or three days ago, the name of Gen. P. E. Connor did not appear. He is the oldest one of them all. Wounded at the battle of Buena Vista in 1847, he has received from Uncle Sam $30 per month ever since.—Eureka Sentinel.

MARINE BICYCLES.

Trial Trips of Some Novel Crafts on Lake Merritt.

(S. F. Call.)

A considerable number of people were attracted to Lake Merritt, Oakland, yesterday, to witness the trial trips of two marine bicycles, imported by Clarence T. Arper from Portsmouth, N. H., where they are manufactured. This curious craft takes its name from the fact that the rider is seated in a saddle, propelled, by means of crank, pedals and steers with a positive tiller all of which are precisely like those in use on a bicycle. It is a combination of catamaran, rail boat and marine propeller. Each boat consists of two white pine floats, twenty feet long and seven inches wide, placed three feet apart and connected by four cross bars of oak. Each float consists of four air-tight compartments, and draws from two to three inches of water. Over the two center cross bars is an apparatus which looks like the bar and saddle of a bicycle. The pedal cranks are geared to turn a shaft running from under the rider, and between the floats, to a screw propeller located between the two stern ends of the floats. The tiller turns a rudder placed still aft of the propeller. After mounting the saddle, the rider proceeds exactly as if he were on a bicycle, finding no difficulty, however, to back, by reversing the motion of the pedals. There is one overwhelming advantage in the little craft over the road-propeller, it don't buck, can't throw the riders, nor capsizes. An arrangement under control of the rider lifts the propeller and rudder out of water when a shoal is to be crossed, and to aid in crossing, a little paddle is carried. Over the rider, supported by a rod continuing up from the tiller post, is an awning, which, at will, can be converted into a sail when favoring wind suggests, a rest for the legs. A number of people, among them, some of Oakland's crack bicyclists, tried the novel crafts yesterday, and the effect, when a rider was some distance off, was absurdly as though the rider was calmly walking on the water. Some of those who experimented yesterday, announced their intention of crossing the bay on the marine bicycle. The English channel has already been crossed by them, and riders have ventured out miles on the Atlantic Ocean with them, so that there is no reason why a bicycle race to the Farrallones should not be an event of the near future.

THE NORTH END.

Some New Ore Streaks—Good Progress at All Points.

Virginia Enterprise.

The south drift from the joint 3100 station of the Union Consolidated and Sierra Nevada mines was yesterday out about ten feet. It has out a streak of quartz of a different character from the streaks encountered in sinking the winze, though it assays high in gold. It is also different from the streaks out to the west in excavating the station, as in them silver was the predominant metal. While it is a gold quartz, like that in the winze, still it is of a softer structure, and has a less compact grain. Its course is such that the drift will presently cross it.

To-day the double cages will be placed in the winze. These will greatly facilitate hoisting. It will be ten days or two weeks yet before a north drift will be started. The drift going north on the 3100 level of the Mexican will reach the Union Consolidated line about next Saturday, as has been ascertained by survey, when that company will take it and carry it forward.

Once the Mexican Company have this drift off their hands, they can return and explore their 2900 at the point where the appraise connected with the 2700 level. The ground at this point will now probably be found to have drained out pretty thoroughly.

Hats in Washington.

This Administration may not make much impression in a general way, but it will leave a record in history in one way, at least. This is the peculiar style of hats worn, of such original shape as if some principle were involved in this eccentricity. The President, in the first place, has a hat made on a block of his own fashion. The crown is about four inches higher than the prevailing styles in silk hats, while the brim is flat and very wide. He has a white cashmere felt made on this block for Summer wear, and a silk one for Winter wear. The President is so tall that this hat elongates him in a most distressing way. He loves an old hat. He is still wearing his old Summer hat, although its ghastly whiteness these cold days gives one a chill. He and Fred Douglass are the last men in Washington who are base enough to still wear a white hat. Even Brewster has given up the piratical yellow fur hat and its mourning band with which he entertained the people at the Eastern watering places this Summer. Folger has worn a little straw hat all Summer, and occasionally wears it yet, varying it with an old soft black hat ten years old, or a hard Derby hat of the style of the last century. Frothinghams, great in his deportment, wears a black silk hat the year through. He keeps up to within three years of the style. Lincoln wears new and fashionable hats. Chandler wears hats no respectable junk dealer would buy. Gresham wears a silk hat with the nap carefully brushed granger fashion—all the wrong way—while Teller smashes a soft, seedy black hat down over his sharp hawk's face.—Corr. N. Y. World.

THE "JOURNAL'S" ILLUSTRATED ANNUAL FOR 1884.

In accordance with its usual custom the JOURNAL will present its subscribers with a Holiday present of the JOURNAL Annual for the year 1884, with fifty illustrations on wood, chiefly by Granville Perkins, Thos. Moran, Harry Fenn, and other celebrated American artists. The Annual will also contain a calendar; and its table of contents will embrace an exceedingly interesting and varied assortment of miscellany; also choice selections of poetry; besides much practical knowledge, pertaining to the household.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN.

What is Being Said and Done in a Small Way.

The delinquent tax list will be very small.

C. S. Varian will be in from Salt Lake next month.

Nothing but a circus or a plaster would draw these times.

Carson proudly boasts of three faro games in full blast.

A good storm will drive the prospectors in from the mountains.

J. F. Cooke has returned from a trip through the northern country.

Mrs. J. T. Davis came down from the Mount House yesterday to visit Reno friends.

All kinds of job printing executed with neatness and dispatch at the JOURNAL job office.

At the rate the Asylum is filling up the capacity of the institution will soon be reached.

Jim Winfrey is feeding between three and four hundred head of cattle for outside parties.

Jas. Butler was attacked with a chill yesterday morning, and compelled to remain sick abed during the day.

Prof. Legate is preparing a statement showing the probable state of the weather for the next 60 days.

Capt. Griffin is in from Peavine, where he has a force of men at work on the Paymaster and other mines.

Col. Henry Shaw, editor of the Enterprise, accompanied by his wife, per Steamboat a visit yesterday afternoon.

A band of between two and thousand Angora goats driven through the streets yesterday attracted considerable attention.

Surprise Valley farmers have found Reno a good market for their hogs. Several droves have been sold here this Fall at good prices.

What difference does it make if the Pittsburg iron mills have closed down so long as you can buy boots and shoes at cost of Tom Barnett?

Sheriff Swift came down from the Capital yesterday morning with a woman who has been adjudged insane and committed to the Asylum.

Col. Jerry Moore, of Ruby Valley, who was reported at death's door a week ago, has regained his health sufficiently to enable him to be out on his ranch.

Two car-loads of Fulton's house was brought down from Virginia yesterday. Hope this pleasant weather will continue until he gets it all down here, and made ready for occupancy.

Over an hundred bales of cotton were raised this year in Kern county, California, that is pronounced fully as good as any raised in Louisiana or Texas.

As soon as possible the Pyramid Lake Mining Company will ship several hundred tons of its richest ore to Denver for reduction. Negotiations are now in progress with the railroads for a reasonable rate.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

Two Men Narrowly Escape Being Killed by the Carelessness of a Pistol Carrier.

What might have proved a most serious accident occurred at the Palace Hotel yesterday morning. A stranger came in and took a seat by the stove, and remained seated for some moments unnoticed. Presently the report of a pistol brought every one in the house to their feet. All seemed to realize that the stranger had done the shooting, but for the moment could not tell whether the shot was accidental or intentional. Investigation, however, showed that it was purely accidental. The stranger was himself unable to tell how it happened. The pistol was in his hip pocket, and in attempting to rise, he thinks the hammer caught the chair and was discharged. Others think he had carelessly placed the pistol in his pocket cocked, and subsequently crowded a big silk handkerchief on top of it, and that in attempting to remove the handkerchief the pistol was discharged. The ball passed within a few inches of the head of a gentleman who was standing in front of the counter, and just escaped the scalp-lock of Johnny Fitzgerald, who was on duty at the time, and demolished a picture behind the bar. Johnny was pretty badly scared, but not near so bad as the stranger who did the shooting, who turned as white as a ghost, and was unable to speak or move for some minutes, which gave rise to the thought, for the moment, that he had attempted suicide. Just how the accident occurred is a mystery to all, and will probably remain so. Fortunately, no one was hurt, but it was a close call for the life of two men at least; and right here is a good subject for a moral lecture, but to embrace it would be like casting pearls before swine, for good men, as well as bad men, will continue to carry firearms, and not one in a thousand who indulge in that foolish and unnecessary business are not criminally careless in the use of them; and all the lecturing and preaching on this side of tophet would not change the evil.

A Bicyclist's Proposed Trip.

A young English bicyclist, now in San Francisco, has arranged for himself a year's arduous work. He says that he intends to winter at the Bay, and in the Spring proposes to make a trip around the world on his bicycle. He will start from San Francisco eastward, by way of Ogden, Omaha and Chicago, and crossing the Atlantic from New York will ride from Liverpool to Dover. He will cross the English Channel to France and ride through Europe into Asiatic Turkey, thence through Persia and Turkestan into the Chinese Empire, and make his way down the valley of the Yangtze-Kiang to Shanghai, and thence by vessel to San Francisco, consuming a year in the traveling. He says he considers this trip from Sacramento to Reno the most difficult piece of road for a bicycle, and looks with some dismay at his proposed trip through Asia, where a bicycle has never been seen or perhaps heard of.

The Doctors Differ.

In the big mining suit now going on at Carson, it is interesting as well as perplexing to read the widely different views of the two noted scientists, Professors Raymond and Keyes, regarding the formation of Belleville Mountain and the ledges therein. Prof. Raymond takes a sample of ore from the Holmes ledge and another from the Northern Belle, and by scientific tests shows the Judge and the jury that they are identical, and then Prof. Keyes takes the same samples and scientifically demonstrates that they are widely different, and must have come from different ledges. When two scientific witnesses like these disagree so widely on an important part like that, how is an unsophisticated jurymen to determine the question?

Ex-Senator Geo. E. Spencer, of Alabama, who was arrested at Austin by Deputy Marshals Nuckels and Wardle, by order of Attorney General Brewster, for contempt of Court for not appearing as a witness in the Star Route cases, denies that he has eluded the officers, and is perfectly willing to go to Washington and stand trial. He has extensive mining interests in White Pine and Nye counties, and has been attending to them. In company with the two Deputy Marshals, he has left for Washington, but expects to return in about a month.

It is estimated by those in a position to know that over 3,000 head of cattle driven in from the northern country are now on the "Truckee meadows." It is thought that every ton of surplus hay raised in the valley will be consumed in this way before Spring.

The report that the Chinese have evacuated Sontag and Barmish is unconfirmed, and not believed. In all probability hostilities between France and China will break out to-day.

BREVITIES.

Turkeys are not for sale this week. The markets are well supplied with Pyramid trout.

Constable Nash was reported on the sick list yesterday.

Hon. J. M. Rhodes, of Long Valley, was in town yesterday.

Several attachment suits were instituted in the Justice Court yesterday.

Four antelope were seen yesterday near the Peavine road two miles north of town.

If you have any business in the Carson land office now is the time to attend to it.

Don't forget Holesworth & Fulmer's social dance this evening at Kimball's Hall.

The Congregational Church entertainment last evening was a complete success in every respect.

Hon. O. C. Stevenson and Capt. J. B. Overton came down from the Comstock last night, westward bound.

The Public Reading Rooms are now open, and there is not a better place in town to pass the evening.

The dance at Verdi to-morrow night will be a good one. Our Verdi friends are already to entertain Reno visitors.

It is reported that operations are to be resumed in the upper levels and old stopes of the Consolidated Virginia mine at an early day.

Dick Fason brought in 15 head of horses, and Eugene Blasdel got to the Meadows yesterday with 18 horses from Mud Lake. W. H. Bryant is going to break them this Winter.

Mine workers who have long worked in the Northern Belle mine are at present being examined in the Holmes-Belle suit. Judge Sawyer is quite unwell and it is doubtful if he will be able to last the trial through.

R. D. Alvey, an old gentleman 60 years of age, living at Franktown, has commenced a suit for divorce from his wife, Margaret Alvey, on the grounds of desertion. The old couple have lived together for over 30 years.

Miss Josie Wintermantel has 18 scholars in her school at Pyramid. Several of the ranchers have moved in to give their children the benefit of her labors, and she now has Mr. Graham's and Mr. Giles' in addition to her old pupils.

The Tuscarora Times-Review says "Reno is suffering for the want of a ten company military post." And then it cruelly stabs the town by adding "there will probably be none established there, as there would be danger of conflict of authority between Uncle Sam's boys and the Tar Bucket Brigade."

An application was made to Judge Rising yesterday morning to admit Savery and Delury (who were indicted for murder in the first degree) to bail. The application was denied, the Judge basing his denial on upon the fact that after being indicted by the Grand Jury for a capital offense, a prisoner cannot be admitted to bail.

SATURDAY.

An Interesting Object for Astronomers.

Providence Journal.

Saturn is the morning star until the 28th and then evening star. If we class the planets according to the interest attached to their movements during the month, Saturn will undoubtedly win first place. On the 28th, at 11 o'clock in the evening, Saturn is in opposition to the sun, reaching his culminating point in size and brilliancy for the present year. He is then opposite the sun, rising when the sun sets and setting when the sun rises. This is the point in his orbit when he is nearest the earth, thus accounting for the splendor of his appearance. A straight line drawn from the sun to the earth would, if extended, pass through Saturn. In fact, he is 1,014,000,000 miles from the earth, his conjunction is 831,000,000 miles. But his nearness to us is not the only reason for his beautiful appearance. His rings are open nearly to their widest extent, and his approaching perihelion, which, while bringing him more than 100,000,000 miles nearer the sun than when in aphelion, brings him also nearer to the earth. He will, therefore, be a superb object for observation during the month, being above the horizon nearly the entire night, and needing no one to point him out as he pursues his shining course near the Pleiades and Aldebaran. Clear-sighted observers who can detect one or more of Jupiter's moons with the naked eye, may see him in an elongated form. An account of his widely open rings. A telescope of moderate power will give a surpassingly lovely picture of the ring-girdled planet, and everyone interested in astronomy should, if possible, obtain a view of this wonder of the heavens.

A Good Investment.

To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold miseries, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

AYER'S PILLS are sugar-coated and purely vegetable—a pleasant, entirely safe, and reliable medicine for the cure of all disorders of the stomach and bowels. They are the best of all purgatives for family use.

LEGAL.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S SALE.

Union Trust Company, of New York, a Corporation, Complainant, vs.
Nevada and Oregon Railroad Company, a Corporation, Defendant.

By virtue of an interlocutory decree and order of sale issued by the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit and District of Nevada, and to me directed and delivered, rendered in said Court on the 7th day of August, A. D. 1883, wherein the Union Trust Company, of New York, a corporation, is complainant, and Nevada and Oregon Railroad Company, a corporation, is defendant.

And wherein it appears that on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1883, the said defendant executed its certain series of 3,000 bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each and then and thereby, and in each of said bonds, acknowledged itself indebted, and promised to pay to the holder thereof, at the City of New York, the sum of $1,000 on the first day of June, in the year 1890, and also therein and thereby promised to pay interest thereon at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum, interest payable semi-annually, on the first days of June and December of each year.

That each of said bonds was one of a series of 3,000 of like amount, date, tenor and effect, amounting in the aggregate to three million dollars, and each of said bonds and all of them were secured by a mortgage or deed of trust duly executed and made to the complainant, Union Trust Company, of New York, which said mortgage or deed of trust was dated April 25th, A. D. 1883, and was upon all the estate, real and personal, and franchises then owned or thereafter to be acquired by the said defendant, Nevada and Oregon Railroad Company, in the States of Nevada and California.

That said 3,000 bonds complainant, Union Trust Company, of New York, certified 600 and no more, and that no more than 600 of said bonds are valid obligations of said Railroad Company.

That said 600 bonds certified by complainant a large number were negotiated and sold and are now outstanding in the hands of bona fide purchasers for value.

And wherein I am commanded to advertise and sell the following described premises and appurtenances in the manner required by law, Notice is hereby given that under the authority of said interlocutory decree and order of sale, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, to-wit: at 12 o'clock M. on the 30th day of October, A. D. 1883, I will sell at public auction at the front door of the Court House of Washoe County State of Nevada, in the town of Reno, to the highest and best bidder for cash, gold coin of the United States, or the purchaser at said sale may make payment by the said bonds and coupons of said company at a pro rata valuation regulated by the net amount of the price realized at said sale, less such an amount of cash as said Union Trust Company shall require to be paid in view of being able to convey a good title free of all incumbrances, charges and expenses, commissions and charges; all and singular the property, franchises, and estate, real and personal, hereinbefore mentioned, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit: All the railroad line of the said Nevada and Oregon Railroad Company, commencing at or near the town of Aurora, in the State of Nevada, and running thence to a point in the State of California at or near the boundary line between said State of California and the State of Oregon, and wherein said boundary line between said States intersects the eastern shore of Goose Lake, and extending through the counties of Esmeralda, Douglas, Ormsby, Washoe and Koop, in the State of Nevada, thence into and through the counties of Sierra, Lassen and Modoc, in the State of California, a distance of three hundred miles, as near as may be, including all the lands and estate, real and personal, rights of way, roadways, truck and tracks, together with all the superstructures, depots, depot grounds, station houses, water tanks, work shops, machine shops, machinery, side tracks, turn-outs, turn-tables, weighing scales, locomotives, tenders, rolling stock, all kinds of fuel, equipments, fixtures, tools, and all other property which might be necessarily used or ordinarily used in operating or repairing said railroad, or anything connected therewith, including all of the said property now constructed or completed, purchased, acquired, held or owned by the said railroad company, pertaining to said railroad, and all the corporate rights, privileges and franchises of said company pertaining to said railroad, together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in anywise appertaining, and the reversions and reversionary remainders and remainders, rents, incomes, issues and profits thereof, with all the rights, titles, interest, estate, property, possession, claim and demand in law or in equity of said Railroad Company of, in and to the same or any part or parcel thereof, to secure the payment of the said 600 bonds or so many thereof as may hereafter be ascertained to be valid obligations of said company and entitled to share in the security of said mortgage, and for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon, and for the payment of the costs, expenses, commissions and attorneys' fees hereafter to be ascertained and found, but which sum is largely in excess of three hundred thousand dollars.

Dated Reno, Nevada, Oct. 9th, A. D. 1883.
P. S. CORBETT,
U. S. Marshal, Dist. Nevada.

The above sale is hereby postponed until Monday, December 3d, 1883, at the same hour and place. P. S. CORBETT, U. S. Marshal.
October 25th 1883.
